

ARREST SIX AS ROBBERS

Men Captured in Automobile at Points of Pistols

THEY ARE ACCUSED IN PROVIDENCE CASE

Considerable Sum of Money Was Found on Them

New London, Conn., Oct. 23.—Six men, in a touring car, were arrested here yesterday at the point of revolvers, on suspicion of being connected with the robbery of a store at Providence, R. I.

At police headquarters the men gave their names as Leonard E. Maynard, Raymond W. Staley, Burnside McCullen, Albert Percival, Joseph F. Brady and Michael Devlin. About $675 was found on them. As they entered the station house Staley drew a revolver and pointed it at an officer. He was immediately covered by half a dozen revolvers and disarmed.

Inspectors O'Malley, Monahan, McGinn and Ahearn of Providence, who had been following the fugitives from Providence in an automobile, arrived here during the morning. The prisoners, after consulting a local attorney, decided to waive extradition and left for Providence by automobile. In addition to the money found on the men they had a large quantity of postage stamps and money orders.

There have been postoffice robberies with safe blowing in half a dozen towns in Connecticut, and in New Haven, last Friday night eight safes in as many stores were broken open. All the stores were within 300 feet of police headquarters there.

Tied Up Watchman, Robbed Safe of $315.
Providence, Oct. 23.—After gagging and binding Victor de la Barre, the watchman, four masked auto burglars opened a safe in the Regal shoe store at 332 Westminster street early yesterday and secured $315.

The watchman was tied with wire to a chair in the basement and the chair fastened to a pipe. A towel was tied over his mouth. Then the four burglars carried the 400-pound safe to the basement and opened it. One man stood guard with a revolver over the watchman. After the men were done the watchman was placed in a closet, still tied to the chair, and the safe pushed against the door. He worked for two hours before freeing himself and collapsed after telephoning the police.

The burglars grabbed Barre in a dark hallway when he went upstairs to the main floor to investigate the noise they made while gaining entrance. In addition to robbing the shoe store, the thieves secured $2 from the cash drawer of the Standard Clothing & Suit company at 236 Westminster street.

The police of New England were told to keep a lookout for the burglars, who are believed to have escaped in a touring car bearing a New Jersey registration number.

SPAULDING WON

FROM NORWICH 2DS

Score at Northfield Yesterday Afternoon Was 7 to 6—High School Lads Gave Good Demonstration of Defensive Work.

Amid a gale of wind which swept the campus at Northfield yesterday afternoon Spaulding defeated the Northfield university second team by a score of 7 to 6. Although it was very cold, the game was interesting to see. Spaulding's backfield was good and surprised the opposing team more than once. It was greatly strengthened by the presence of "Bullet" Cowie. Other players of note were Gordon, T. Tomasi, and Oliver on the line. For the losers, Vianno and Ogston's work was worthy of note.

Soon after the game opened the Norwich men succeeded in getting the ball within one yard of Spaulding's line. Here they were held for four downs, when a fumble occurred. Then the ball, having one yard to go, was held for three more, making a total of seven downs that Spaulding held them with one yard to go. Then, on the eighth down, Vianno succeeded in just placing it over. They failed to kick the goal. In the second period neither side scored.

It was in the first period that Spaulding scored. By a series of line plunges Spaulding rushed the ball nearly the length of the field. Then on a trick play, T. Tomasi was given the ball and made the touchdown. This tied the score, but Spaulding kicked the goal, making one point more. It was in this period that J. Tomasi caught a forward pass and made a good gain. This was the only one worked during the game, there being such a wind that it was almost useless to try them. It was the last period that Spaulding received the kick off. Tomasi received the ball on the 20 yard line and by brilliant running carried the ball over the line. But the referee claimed Tomasi was once on his knees and brought the ball back. Soon after, the whistle sounded for time and brought the game to a close. It was nearly dark when the players left the field.

OPERA SINGER,

SUED, CHARGES EMBEZZLEMENT

Carl Jörn Says That the Cash Which He Left in Safe Has Disappeared.

Port Jervis, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Carl Jörn, once a member of the Metropolitan opera house force in New York City and interested in a wood turning concern at Branson, Wayne county, Pa., just across the line from here, finds himself the defendant in a $10,000 action brought by his former manager, Joseph Nelken. Nelken alleges that he didn't receive his share of the profits of the business. Jörn has, in his turn, caused Nelken's arrest on the charge of embezzlement. At the preliminary hearing Nelken was released in $2,000 bail. Jörn's bank accounts, personal belongings and chattels have all been attached in the Nelken action.

Jörn returned but a short time ago from Europe. He alleges that he left a large sum of money in the safe at the Branson office of the company when he went away and found upon his return that it was gone. Jörn has also recently been having a concern dug wells on his estate looking for oil.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Edith Thayer Appears in Title Role of "The Firefly," Oct. 26.

Edith Thayer, the youthful star, she of small stature but of wondrous amplitude of voice, will be seen in the title role of Arthur Hammerstein's musical comedy opera, "The Firefly," at the opera house Monday, Oct. 26. The story furnished by Otto Hammerbach, a prolific author who is by no means new to us, deals with an East Side (N. Y.) street singer. (Miss Thayer's role), who, as the story opens, in the guise of a boy accidentally becomes one of the gay rackets party sailing from New York City—the prologue scene—to Bermuda—scene of the first act. After arriving in Bermuda the urchin is given employment as a page by one of the wealthy party. Shortly afterwards through complications, she is accused of theft. She is about to be imprisoned, when an old German choir-master, another of the party, who has seen great possibilities in the supposed boy's voice, comes to her rescue by promising to see that the little wail is returned safely to New York.

In the last act she comes into her own. In the role of a prima donna, who has achieved an international reputation (there being a lapse of three years between Acts I and II), Miss Thayer is seen at her best using her wonderful voice.

Rudolf Friml, who composed the music of "The Firefly," more than justifies the confidence placed in him by Mr. Hammerstein, who "brought him out." Some of the beautiful song numbers are "Love Is Like a Firefly," "Giannina Mai," "Sympathy," "A Woman's Smile," "When a Maid Comes Knocking at Your Heart," and there are also some that mix fun with music such as "Something," "Tommy Atkins on Parade," "De Trop," "The Latest Thing from Paris," and many others, together with several ensemble numbers.—Ad.
